[Firstname Lastname]

Junior Frontend Developer · React, TypeScript · ex-[Accountant / Teacher / Logistics Manager]

[Lviv], Ukraine · Remote or office · [email@example.com] · [linkedin.com/in/your-name] · [github.com/your-name] · [portfolio-url]

SUMMARY

Former [logistics manager] with [6] years in [freight operations], now a frontend developer. Over the last [10 months] I built [3] React and TypeScript apps, including [a delivery-tracking dashboard that my former team uses daily]. I bring what a new developer usually lacks: experience with real users, deadlines and messy requirements. Looking for a junior frontend role, ideally in [logistics, fintech or B2B SaaS], where domain knowledge helps.

PROJECTS

[Delivery tracker] · [live-demo-url] · [github-url]

Dashboard for tracking shipments, used by [8] people at [my former company]. React, TypeScript, React Query, [Supabase]. Replaced a shared spreadsheet; [daily status calls went from 30 to 10 minutes].

[Budget app] · [live-demo-url] · [github-url]

[One sentence.] Next.js, TypeScript, Tailwind, Vitest. [What was hard: auth, offline mode, charts, tests.]

[Open source or team project] · [url]

[Contributed X to Y / built with a team of 4 at a hackathon.]

EXPERIENCE

[Logistics Manager] · [Company Name]
[2019] - [2025] · [Lviv]

- Coordinated [40+] shipments a week across [5] carriers; [kept on-time delivery above 95%].
- Wrote the first written process for [returns], cut handling time from [3 days to 1].
- Automated weekly reports with [Google Sheets formulas and Apps Script], saving the team [about 4 hours a week]. This is where I started coding.
- Worked daily with [developers of our internal CRM]: wrote requirements, tested releases, reported bugs.
